

Nature photography.

We would like to encourage families to take some nature photographs over the next couple of months. By the Easter holidays please choose your favourite photograph to submit. Give it a caption or say why it has been chosen by your family if you like. If you send in a photograph, please be prepared for us to share this with others or as part of a display.

Whilst I was looking at some nature photography images, I came across the following quote from Alex Burke, an American landscape photographer which I would like to share.

“No matter where you live it’s important to get outside, walk that trail, climb that rock or take in the grand view. Let yourself connect with nature and it will always reward you, time and time again.” (Burke, A. 2015)
